

bubblebyte.org

Press Release

Oliver Sutherland

Première

31/01/2011 - 26/02/2011

Private view

30 | 01 | 2011

7pm – 11 pm

Bubblebyte.org is an online gallery showcasing artists that engage in a creative way with the digital space and stress the multiple possibilities of the media.

Bubblebyte.org is pleased to present Première, the first online solo show of Sutherland's ephemeral and humouristic work. The exhibition challenges the classical idea of production and reproduction associated with the role of the artist and his practice, opening up new possibilities of expression and engagement. The artworks exhibited belong to the aesthetics of visual communication and digital technology; whilst using a wide range of media revert, stress and stretch language and forms.

The private view attendees will receive a limited edition artwork exclusively created by the artist.

Oliver Sutherland b. 1985, Uk

Oliver Sutherland is currently studying an MA in Sculpture at The Royal College of Art.

Working across a range of media his practice takes influence from a variety of sources including science, belief systems and fiction, culminating in critical and subversive observations of serious and often humourless situations. Sutherland practice examines the more esoteric language of digital media and digital processes reverting it to create highly visual hybridized artworks.

Information:

info@bubblebyte.org